

A NEW BOOK from the K.O.S.B. Regimental Museum

Badges and Insignia of The King's Own Scottish Borderers
Also

Associated Volunteer and Militia Units

From 1689 until 2006

From the Regimental Museum Collection and others

By Hiram Dunn

Comprehensively researched and written, with over 360 beautiful colour and black & white photographs of headdress badges, shoulder-belt-plates, waist-belt-buckles, buttons, collar-badges and shoulder titles, with a host of historical photographs, many of which have never been seen before, spread throughout the chapters and appendices of this magnificently produced book.

Published in A4 size with 144 pages and a full index.

Each item individually described with accompanying footnotes of historical information.

The book covers all periods of the Regiment's 317 years' history, including a superb chapter on the Pipes and Drums badges and insignia. Also, there are appendices on the headdress worn with dates of service and illustrations and one on the Sealed Pattern process for the official supply of insignia with examples of the record cards used.

The book has been researched, written and produced by a former Regimental Sergeant Major. This is his second book about the King's Own Scottish Borderers.

In his Foreword, Lieutenant General J Cooper (Retired) CB DSO MBE says:
"This book is chock-full of detail and superbly produced photographs, all the result of deep and detailed research. It is a joy to the eye and informative to read; I recommend it to serious students of regimental history, badge and insignia aficionados and to all Borderers".
